We love the family atmosphere, and we love Miss Yvonna!

I have two daughters who take lessons at Dance Depot. I love the family atmosphere there, and the classes are affordable! We love Miss Yvonna too! We have been going there off and on for three years, skipping only the time during the Pandemic when everything was closed down. I highly recommend Dance Depot to everyone!

Dance Depot s an amazing place, and we love it!

Dance Depot is an amazing place! My daughter started taking lessons there when the class was already started. They made sure to talk to my daughter first, and they also made sure that she felt comfortable joining the class. Everybody there was very welcoming and helpful! They also made sure to follow up with my daughter after class. They also speak to me and let me know what is going on. They even make sure that it is okay for my daughter to have a lollipop. There is a lot of room in the facility, and on those occasions when I have to take my other daughter there, there is a place for her to play and interact with the other children. Whenever I ask a question, they are very quick to respond. Like I said before, Dance Depot is an amazing place, and we all love it!

They go out of their way to help their students!

Dance Depot was recommended to me years ago, by a friend whose daughter went there. All the teachers are very dedicated to what they are doing, and they pay attention to each student's individual needs. They are not distracted at all, and they make great suggestions for areas that need work. They go out of their way to help their students!

My granddaughter has been going to Dance Depot for five years. The instructors are excellent with her, and she loves them. She has taken classes in ballet, tap, jazz, and modern dance. I have referred many parents and grandparents to Dance Depot. They are terrific at what they do, but more important, my Granddaughter loves to go to them.

Overall, our experience has been really nice! It is a great place! They do a nice job with everything!

Everybody at Dance Depot has been great. Miss Yvonna is very available to parents. Miss Amberly has been great for my daughter in ballet class. She is strict and very thorough. My daughter really likes her. The jazz class is fun and they're making it work with a variety of teachers. Everything is very clean and put together. It all feels very functional. Even the dance apparel shop is nice and clean. The studio is beautiful and it's been a good experience all in all. I'm still learning the logistics of who to call when my daughter will miss class and things like that. The only thing that makes me pause is Dance Depot's use of candy as a reward and candy in the studio environment. I think that a place where the focus is on dancing and being dancers would have more body awareness, especially with girls. I expected a healthier environment. Maybe stickers or some other type of reward would be better than candy. I think candy sends the wrong message. I am super aware of healthy food environments and stress healthy choices at home. The reward of dance class should be that they are learning how to dance and are given an opportunity to perform on stage. A dance studio is well-positioned to present healthy food choices for everybody. Other than that, Dance Depot does a nice job with everything. I recommend them.

Friendly! Courteous! Easy to deal with!

Dance Depot is really good. They came highly recommended to us and we highly recommend them to others. Our daughter just started two months ago and we are already happy with the experience. The staff is quick to call for any reason. They recently offered a new class for her age bracket and they called us right away to see if it would fit our schedule. They really take their students' needs into consideration and adjust classes as needed. We're really happy we got the call about moving our daughter out of the big class and into a smaller class. Dance Depot gets five stars.

I really like Dance Depot and its teachers. They have a wide range of times available for the dance classes. I also like that the classes for the younger kids are only thirty minutes. Positive atmosphere! Hopefully, their staffing issues will be resolved soon!

I have two kids enrolled in Dance Depot. The teachers are energetic and friendly. However, I get the feeling they are understaffed as is much of the world these days. Dance Depot has had to combine some of its classes. It's clear that they're doing everything they can with the staffing that they have. My kids are so young, that for them it's just a movement class. But I can see that some of the older kids who are working on developing skills are a little disappointed. I recommend Dance Depot. Their staffing issues are just like everyone else's these days.

The dance program is great! I just wish they'd answer their phones when I call!

Dance Depot has a wonderful dance program and my daughter is extremely happy there. She loves to dance. My husband has met everyone but I never felt the need to go in. My daughter is old enough to be dropped off and I'm trying to encourage her independence. I also know that I've paid well in advance and there isn't an issue with my account. But when I try to call the office, I get nowhere. They have three or four phone numbers and nobody ever answers or returns my calls. Their communication in the other direction is good, they leave long, detailed messages about things. But I wish they would answer the phone when I call. I highly recommend Dance Depot for its dance program. It is wonderful. They should do a better job of running their business and answer the phones.

I like everything about this program except for the lack of mask wearing!

My daughter loves Dance Depot. We've only been going there a month and I highly recommend it. The only criticism I have is that they should encourage mask-wearing in the waiting room. Children are a high-risk group and Dance Depot should make an effort to enforce masks. Otherwise, five stars for Dance Depot.

Beautiful Facility That Is Very Busy

Dance Depot has a really nice facility and a welcoming environment. I do think they are a little overcrowded, meaning they are extremely busy. Really good studio! Really patient teachers!

Dance Depot has a very nice facility that is super clean and super bright. The waiting room has a TV to watch the classes instead of a window that everyone presses their face against. So far, we've taken two classes there. The first one was a mommy and me class which I wasn't exactly prepared for. I thought it would be me and my daughter dancing together but it was really an exercise class for moms using their child as a free weight. It was exhausting and not enough ballet-type stuff. I even traded off days with my husband because it was so tiring. I would've preferred another type of class. The second class at Dance Depot was for my daughter alone. Her teacher was Miss Natasha who is hands down the most patient person I've ever seen in my life. She never got annoyed with the whole bunch of three-year-old kids running around like crazy. She is so patient and so calm. Miss Natasha seems genuinely happy to be surrounded by these crazy three-year-olds. I highly recommend Dance Depot to everyone!

They offer good services and have highly skilled teachers but the groups can be cliquey.

My daughter has been taking dance at Dance Depot for over five years. She recently tried out but wasn't chosen for the competition team. I didn't really think she was assessed properly because right before the tryouts she hadn't danced for four months. I also think that there are a lot of cliquey parents in groups. My daughter isn't used to that and a few moms can be very abrasive towards her. One mom even made her cry during a recital because she was hyper-focused on her own child. I think my daughter is being overlooked because she's not in a clique. Otherwise, Dance Depot has been a good place for her to learn dance skills.

It was a very good experience!

I took adult classes and my daughter took toddler classes at Dance Depot. I was a little bit disappointed with the adult Broadway jazz class because they didn't play any actual Broadway music, only pop music. Also, the adult ballet class was more self-guided than I had hoped. I would like the adult ballet classes to offer more instruction and critique. Additionally, it was hard during COVID to wait outside in the heat and sun to watch our kids through the window. I think they've changed that now which will be good because we want to take classes again at Dance Depot.

It was a good experience for a five-year-old! She enjoyed it!

I enrolled a very shy five-year-old girl in a class at Dance Depot and she did well. The only reason I wouldn't rate them with five stars is that by the time we signed up, only Monday classes were available. So we signed up for Mondays which meant we lost out on a lot of classes that fell on Monday holidays. After reviewing the paperwork, I realized that is what they promised us. High-quality dance program for beginning dancers to advanced! You'll find it here!

I feel like Dance Depot runs a high-quality program. The kids learn a lot. The teachers are also honest with the skill levels. When a student picks a class, the teachers at Dance Depot will let you know if it'll be too easy or too hard. I also like that some of the instructors are adults and they're not all teenagers, so it's a little bit more guided. Two of our three girls have gone to Dance Depot for four years. I recommend them. Five stars!

Fabulous teachers! My student is happy!

I have been very happy with Dance Depot for years and so has my student. Now that she's an older dancer, it is getting a little frustrating to meet all their ballet requirements. They require them to continue taking four classes even after they get older. That is in addition to any after-school activities or other sport that my daughter is interested in pursuing. I would love to stick with Dance Depot. I just wish they could be more flexible. Then they'd be perfect!

Personally, I like the environment and the company itself!

This was our first year with Dance Depot and COVID made it a little bit frustrating. I researched and explored all the dance options before choosing Dance Depot. As the parent of a little, I prefer to be involved. I wanted a studio where I could participate and be part of the experience with my toddler daughter. But COVID forced Dance Depot to close the classroom to parents and visitors. Overall, I am satisfied with the resulting experience. They did the best they could. My daughter loved it and learned a lot. We are excited about the fall season!

I recommend Dance Depot all the time. They are super friendly. The teachers are really good with the girls, very straightforward. My daughter has been going to Dance Depot for five years since she was two years old. She loves it so much. It was a tough transition to new regulations during the pandemic, but Dance Depot made it work. They are amazing people. They are very good at what they do. It's been a fun growing experience for both me and my daughter!

My daughter is four years old and has been attending Dance Depot for two and a half years. Sometimes she seems teary and out of sorts when we get ready to go to dance but she always leaves class smiling and excited. She doesn't usually like being told what to do but she follows the teachers' instructions very well. She is so young I was concerned they wouldn't be able to keep her attention. I think she'd rather be on stage than in a class. I have been very impressed by how the teachers at Dance Depot keep the children paying attention in addition to following all the new COVID guidelines and restrictions. I recommend Dance Depot for sure. They are very organized but also like to have fun. The staff is also good about communicating through emails. I look forward to all the information contained in these messages. They keep me informed about everything.

My ten-year-old daughter attended Dance Depot all year. She spent another season with them about three years ago. She likes both her current teachers. She thinks the classes are interesting but could be a little bit longer. Next season she wants to try different classes, maybe lyrical dance or jazz. She really enjoyed hip-hop when she took it but she started with ballet which is the backbone of all dance. My daughter is excited about going back to Dance Depot next season and recommends it to her friends.

I have some hesitation about recommending Dance Depot.

Overall, my family is happy with Dance Depot. We've been going there for about six months and I have some concerns. I don't think it's healthy to wear masks during physical exercise and Dance Depot made the students wear masks. Also, I think the classes are a little bit too short at forty-five minutes. By the time the students get warmed up, the class is fifteen or twenty minutes in. It's just not enough time.

They are amazing! When we first started out there, our ten-year-old son wanted to try things out too. So Dance Depot let him go to a few different classes until he found the one which was at his level. That was amazing. Also, the personal touch is amazing. We only go there for the winter session during the school year, not all year round. Ms. Yvonna calls personally to let me know that the auto-draft of my account will be stopping after the winter session. She doesn't have to do that herself, but I appreciate the personal touch. The whole staff is really on top of things. It is amazing to watch the teachers wrangle a class full of children. It's amazing. The students are one hundred percent captivated. Great place to take your kid for dance, but a little expensive!

Dance Depot is a great place and a great experience but the little extra expenses can start to add up. For example, there's a performance fee, a costume fee, and other fees that seem to come up regularly. Also, the requirement that parents have to stay on the premises with their child during class can be a little draining, especially if you have younger kids with you. But the teachers are great and very nice. The studio is nice and clean. I just feel sorry for parents who can't afford all the extras or for people who might want to run an errand while their kid is in class. It would even be nice if there were a vending machine there in case we get hungry while we're waiting. I do recommend Dance Depot, just beware upfront that there are some unexpected expectations for fees and parental supervision. Other dance places might be a little bit more affordable.

Very, very happy with them!

Before all this happened and Dance Depot had to close for the COVID-19 virus, we were absolutely thrilled with their program. My girls were so happy that we ended up doubling down on all their classes. We started with two classes each and now we're doing at least three. They had been taking gymnastics for years before switching to dance. Within the first month, the girls progressed more than the entire two years spent working on gymnastics. They miss their dance classes so much. The school sent out videos for them to work with but they refuse to let me be the stand-in teacher. They want to be with and hug Ms. Yvonna so much. My two-year-old son already wants to take a dance class himself! My husband thought he was getting a football team, but instead, he ended up with a dance troupe! I just can't summarize how happy we are with the program at Dance Depot. I recommend them all the time!

Great, healthy outlet for young kids

I have been taking my kids to Dance Depot for about a year now. They offer structure, and I like how the instructors help them learn how to follow directions while learning their dance routines. That's really what I'm there for. Also, I love how they are learning how to be a part of a team. Teamwork is an element that is important to me, and what I'm aiming for with the kiddos.

As part of the overall experience, I do think the cleanliness of the facility could use a little refreshment, and the scheduling is really tough sometimes. The overall vibe I get from some of the instructors is that they waver sometimes, and it makes it hard to tell where I need to kick in as a parent - until the last minute a lot of times - as far as what to focus and pay close attention to or give some extra help on.

From my perspective, if you are new to the whole dance mom circuit, this is a really good place to get an introduction on how to be a dance mom. This is the only dance studio experience I have had in the area, so I don't really have anything to compare it to. I do really like that it is not so serious and formal that you can't learn from mistakes and feel comfortable there, and that is really important to me and my kids.

It Has Been A Really Positive Experience For My Daughter And Me

My daughter has been going to Dance Depot for about five years. I used to dance there too. It is a very family environment. The teachers really care about the kids and their parents.

They are constantly trying to make things better. They put a lot of thought into recitals to make the process run more smoothly. When people were having a hard time getting tickets to the recitals, they changed it to twice a year recitals with different kids in each show, so that everyone would be able to attend.

Amazing Instructors

The owners, Yvonna and Natasha, have an amazing group of instructors who have made our experience wonderful. We live 75 miles from the Redding studio, and 20 miles from the Burney studio. My daughter began her journey with dance at 3 years old at the Burney studio. She is now 16, and we have been driving to the Redding studio for the last 3 years as well as her helping Yvonna at the Burney studio. Dance Depot Family has been part of our family over the years, and we look forward to many more years of dancing fun!

Great experience

We started Dance Depot this summer with the summer workshop for two of my little girls. It was great. The girls enjoyed it so much, and I have signed them up for the regular season. The summer workshop was a perfect place for us to start. We are brand new to dance, but with the summer workshop, you get a taste of everything. Now, the girls are going back to the ones they love the most and were most confident in. All of the staff are really friendly, and there is an adjoining shop where you can buy all of the dance supplies you might need. They are really knowledgeable and super friendly, and they were really helpful in making sure we had what we needed because we really had no idea. They were all so welcoming and made it all so easy so we didn't get overwhelmed or scared during the process. I think they are absolutely fantastic, and I would definitely recommend them!

My granddaughters love it!

My twin granddaughters have been going to Dance Depot for about a year now. One of the reasons I went to Dance Depot is because they have a class that includes ballet, tap, and acrobatics. My granddaughters wanted to learn to do cartwheels and tap, and they had been doing just "young child ballet" at a different place. Also, Dance Depot is much more structured, and I really thought they could use that structure. It has been great, and they really love it. They have a great time in class, and they both come out saying they love dance!

The camaraderie there is great. All the teachers are very nice. They all recently just participated in a "June Showcase," and it was so nice and really fun. Ms. Yvonna is great, and at the end, she lets us know where they are in dancing and provides a schedule with feedback with what steps are next. It has really helped my one granddaughter bloom both socially and in dance. They really love this place, and I do, too!

Great Experience

My daughter has been attending sessions at the Dance Depot for a couple months now and she has been ecstatic during every visit with them. They have many great programs there and wonderful teachers. My daughter always has a great time and has learned so much even in the first couple sessions. They have multiple levels for each age group and also different classes based on how much experience you have. Their schedules are very convenient and we've never had issues getting the classes we wanted. I would highly recommend them to anyone.

Nothing But Loving and Encouraging to the Children

My daughter has been in dance since she was four and she's currently nine, so that makes five years at Dance Depot. Ms. Yvonna is nothing but loving and encouraging to the children and her knowledge of dance is phenomenal. She has a way about implementing discipline in a positive manner that the kids are receptive to and I really appreciate that about her. She goes above and beyond for her clients, she treats them like family. The pricing is awesome in my opinion. For what she does and the time she puts into it, it's absolutely great. It's an awesome experience for the children and the productions are always phenomenal. Ms. Yvonna is a very loving individual and the kids really enjoy her class.

We love the Dance Depot!

My family has been going to the Dance Depot for over 20 years and I would recommend that yours does, too! Both my eldest and youngest daughter have taken classes, here, and my youngest just made it onto her school dance team! More than just an encouraging and successful school, Dance Depot does a wonderful job creating a close sense of family and community. The classes keep the interest of the children, and they are taught everything that they need to know to help them advance. Also, the teachers are caring and skilled at teaching as well as at dancing.

Shoutout to Ms. Natasha, in particular, for being absolutely phenomenal! I can't say enough positive things about her. Not only is she extremely talented, but she's incredibly kind, and creates personal connections with every single dancer.

Couldn't Ask For Better Teachers

The Dance Depot is such a wonderful place, I have enrolled my daughter in two classes so far and she has thoroughly enjoyed both classes. She took a tap class with Shelby that she absolutely loved, we enrolled her in the class 3 months late but the teacher was able to bring her up to speed on everything they were doing very quickly. We also enrolled her in the hip hop class with Yvonna and everything went very well with that class as well. They have such great instructors, you can tell because the kids try so hard to impress them and learn the moves they are taught. I will be bringing her back for more classes in the future.

I have had an amazing experience with Dance Depot. I was a first time parent with three girls, and I have never gone to the company before. I can say that the people at this company are extremely friendly, age appropriate when it comes to the songs, and most importantly, they build an inclusive culture - meaning that they accept all kinds of kids. Some are skilled dancers and some want to learn to dance, so they are willing to teach all kinds of kids. I think that the company shows that they love dance and they want the children to, as well. Overall, I would say that the pricing is very fair for the quality. I would absolutely recommend them to other people looking for their kind of service. They are really kind and friendly! The pricing is also really reasonable for the services offered. My only complaint is that the classes are very large. great facility and great program

Overall I think Dance Depot has a great facility and a great program. We are located up in Burney, though, and it does feel as though there is not as much attention given to the Burney girls. When they do their performances it is just noticeable that there is not as much time spent with them as with the other groups. That's kind of disappointing because I have a very talented girl who could do a lot more, but I can't drive an hour to take her to a dance class. My daughter does love the classes. A fun, loving and confidence building family at Dance Depot

There's no one like Dance Depot in town to make sure kids have fun. There are many longtime teachers at Dance Depot, and that really speaks to the family there. I have been a part of the Dance Depot family for a long time. My daughter, who is now 24 and a teacher there, started taking classes there when she was 5 years old. My six- and three-year-old granddaughters are now attending, too.

The teachers are very accommodating and if you communicate with them, they bend over backwards--whether it is teaching me dance so I can work with my granddaughter, or working with the schedule. One of my granddaughters takes jazzy/hip-hop, ballet, tap and Broadway. They keep extra ballet and tap shoes--and knee pads--in case a child doesn't have any or can't afford it; they always have things for them.

They also do warm ups and the teachers explain the importance of not getting hurt, explaining why they are doing it. The kids are learning a lot about their bodies and how the body works, so they are getting a good little education.

There's also a lot of parent participation with organizing and performing. The main thing is that the kids learn and move forward and have fun. They are constantly pushing them to higher levels, and the confidence they give you--you can't pay enough for that.

Both kids and parents love this place!

As a company and business, Dance Depot is very organized. As a group that services children, they're very kind, warm, friendly, and responsive to the children's needs. And as dancers and choreographers, they have interesting and unique dances to offer their students.

My children have been attending for two years now. I currently have three of my children enrolled in hip hop, tumbling, boy's hip hop, and mixed jazz-ballet-and-tap. My oldest takes hip hop and tumbling, my youngest takes the mixed class, and my son takes boy's hip hop. They all love it. They love the teachers, they enjoy the dancers, and they think the costumes that they get to wear for their dance show recitals are super fun.

And I think that a lot of times, businesses with creative people aren't well-organized, and this is the exception. Every part of them is organized. They are organized in their billing, they're organized in their timing, and their organized in their show setup. Everything is totally dialed in.

Variety of options. Wonderful people.

I like that Dance Depot provides a variety of options and that they are wonderful people. I've used them for many, many years and what keeps on bringing me back to them is the family feel. My only advice would be that they add beginner level classes for teen adults, so that they are not mixed in with everyone else.

Kid friendly, definitely enjoyable

They are just phenomenal teachers at Dance Depot.

My oldest needed mommy a little too much during the classes but she handled it very well and took care of us.

One thing I really appreciate is that they keep the dances clean. They don't try to make the girls out to be older than they are.

They are very reasonably priced and have great quality dancing!

Definitely go to Dance Depot.

Yvonna was my dance teacher when I was growing up and now she's teaching my daughter. She taught me for about seven years and so far she's taught my daughter for about two months. Yvonna is really hands-on with the little ones. She brings a lot of order to the chaotic room. My daughter is actually learning, wants to practice, and is developing a love for dance. I highly recommend Yvonna.

The teachers at Dance Depot are really on top of everything. They are on it when it comes to the classes, and they are really good with the children. My daughter is currently taking ballet, jazzy hip-hop, and tap; she really loves it. Mrs. Yvonna is a great teacher.

Fair price, excellent experience

We just started at Dance Depot last year with my 3 year old. Everyone was so awesome with her and the other girls of that age. My daughter absolutely adored her teachers and just loved going. This is our second time back. The price is fair compared to other studios.

Welcoming & fun!

My teenagers were new to dance, and the instructors at Dance Depot went ahead and got them into classes and the kids love it. They have a broad spectrum of classes available for all age groups, the teachers are super caring and the recital at the end of the year is amazing and a ton of fun.

Become part of the family with Dance Depot!

I had taken a break from dancing for six years when I called Yvonna, the owner of Dance Depot. When I talked to her, she not only recommended the right classes for me, but was also very flexible with my financial schedule as well. The teachers are incredibly talented, and super nice. The choreography that goes along with each performance is so well thought-out, and it fits each and every one of us dancers perfectly. When I first looked at Dance Depot, I was looking at a few different dance companies, and a lot of them were really expensive. Dance Depot's pricing is very reasonable- I can actually manage to pay for the lessons. The pricing is perfect. They are not super well-known yet, but I definitely think they should be because it's more of a family atmosphere. Once you start going, you feel like you belong in the family.

Dance Depot is a wonderful experience for children!

I think the classes at Dance Depot are good. My girls have really enjoyed the classes and learning and growing in them. Sometimes the instructors can pick favorites which can make some children feel less important than others, but I think it is a nice outlet for children. I also love the website and having the ability to access enrollment and payments through it.

Over the past four years, the amazing staff members at Dance Depot taught my daughter maturity and life skills along with improving her dance skills. They treat my daughter like family and she really enjoys her time there. The pricing is very fair and there are package deals available that offer discounts based on the number of classes you take. Everyone and anyone will enjoy every moment spent at Dance Depot!

Excellent, professional, and experienced, with a great environment on and off the dance floor!

The training at Dance Depot is excellent! They are qualified, friendly, and are willing to work with the students a little overtime if they need to. It's a very friendly atmosphere in the waiting room, and they provide good customer service. When they do a recital, it's very well organized! It's a lot better than our previous experiences with dance studios, especially in terms of organization and presentation. My granddaughter thinks they're five stars!

Best dance company in town!

Dance Depot puts on the best shows I've ever seen from any dance production in the Bay area, and my daughter's been in every dance company in the city, with the exception of four. Dance Depot is the best production, they are very professional.

I love that they're family owned and operated, they're super friendly. They make it so that my daughter wants to go. The prices are reasonable, and they actually teach you how to dance. When my daughter was in some of the other dance companies they were throwing around beach $@!#%, but we wanted her to actually learn how to dance. I have already referred 12 people! They are family-oriented, the prices are reasonable, and they put on the best shows.

Fun for each generation.

Dance Depot is fantastic. I have four daughters ranging in ages from 21 to 8, and all of my girls have gone to Dance Depot. My oldest started when she was 2, and has recently started again. They've just been great. From ballet to hip-hop and tumbling, my daughters have loved all of their classes. Elsa, Yvonna, and Natasha are great teachers who know what they're doing, and they're also very nice and family oriented. They're great with children. I'd highly recommend them!

My daughter is enrolled at the Dance Depot, and she really enjoys it. It is a family-oriented place, and they care more about having fun than trying to pressure the children into being perfect or something. We have been going there a long time, and they have great communication skills. They make sure that my daughter is in the right class for her - and they let her know when she is doing well. They let me know when maybe she isn't. So yes, Five Stars in every category!
